Empire Theatre.
In the dramatic field to-day David Belasco stands probably as the greatest man, both as a playwright and a manager, who has been before the public eye in recent years. He never produced a failure, which is saying quite a great deal in these days of failures and mediocre plays, and it would seem that he will never reach the zenith of his glory as a producer. In stage-craft he is a veritable wizard, and while he is enjoying the honors that have been brought him by his latter day successes he is also reaping from seeds he sowed ten years ago in "The Heart of Maryland." This old military romance with its underlying theme of love has been revived by Mr. Belasco this season and placed in the hands of a cast of stars whose ability and renown are of the first rank, and "The Heart of Maryland" is again repeating its conquest of days ago. Mr. Belasco personally selected and rehearsed the cast which includes among its numbers Odette Tyler, Orrin Johnson, R. D. McLean, John E. Kellard and Wallace Edinger. This quintette of stars together with the other members of the company will visit Newark on Monday for the entire week, and at the Empire Theatre will present "The Heart of Maryland" in all of the elaborateness of detail which characterized the production in former days and with new scenery and accessories which have been especially provided by Mr. Belasco for this revival season. Matinee Wednesday and Saturday.

Improvements at the Pin Factory.
Many changes are being made at the big plant of the Consolidated Safety Pin Company. A great quantity of new machinery has been installed in the different departments throughout the plant, thus making it necessary for a great deal more power to be used. The old boiler and engine room was not large enough for any additional boilers, so it has been entirely remodelled and almost doubled in size.

In addition to the old 150-horse power boiler a new one has been put in of 200-horse power, making 350-horse power in all. A new 100-horsepower engine has been installed, as also a 60-horse power generator for lighting purposes. For heating purposes, the Webster vacuum system is being used. By using this system there is a great saving, as all exhaust steam is caught and used again for other purposes.

This company makes its own paper boxes for shipping the goods. These boxes are partly made by the use of steam. It is also used for cleaning wire, pins, and numerous other articles. The old smoketank, which had to be supported by guy ropes, will be torn down and replaced with a new self-supporting steel stack, 100 feet high. The new stack will be ten feet in circumference at the base, tapering for about twenty feet, where it will be four feet in circumference, and from there it will be the same size all the way to the top. The new stack is about to be put into place, and as soon as the proper connections are made the plant will be in perfect running order, only under much better conditions.

American Malleable Iron Company.
Indications seem to point to the fact that there is more freight handled to-day by the different railroads throughout the country than has been for a long time, and perhaps greater than at any time heretofore, because the large car manufacturing concerns all over the country, especially in the West, are keeping manufacturers of car parts in this section very busy.

Among the large manufacturing concerns in this vicinity who have larger contracts to fill than their present plant can take care of, is the American Malleable Iron Company, Glenwood Avenue and Mechanic street. The Haddon Iron Construction Company has recently completed the iron frame work of a new building for this concern. The structure is one hundred feet long, eighty feet wide and forty feet high. The side walls are made of the ordinary red building brick, and the ends are of wood. The entire building will be fitted throughout with new machinery, etc.

Four new brick furnaces have been erected in the building on the west side and will be used for annealing purposes. The furnaces are each twenty feet square and each will have a separate fire. As a rule furnaces of this kind are divided into different sections, but are all heated by the same fire. The smoke from the four fires will lead to one chimney, which is a new one, seventy-five feet high, made of radial brick.

This new structure has been built directly alongside of the old siding which comes in from the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad, so as to facilitate the handling of freight in a quick manner. This company manufactures numerous articles in malleable iron, but the principal line is car parts. The new building will probably be in operation within the course of the next two weeks.

During the month of December in order to demonstrate the value of the service the New York & New Jersey Telephone Company will arrange to give a free trial of telephone exchange service in residences in the Montclair and Bloomfield exchanges. A free trial of extension station service in residences or business places is also offered. Application may be made for this service to District Manager L. O. Hall, 9 Baldwin street, East Orange, N. J.—Advt.

HILLERY

INVESTIGATED BY

Pronounced an Insurance Law on Municipal Law Tied.

The Board of Taxes and Assessors of the Board of the Hillery its conclusion at meeting Thursday was read by W. W. follows.

In response to the at the last regular of Trade that it is and Valuations report to the Board by the New Jersey known as the Hill is to go into effect this committee follows.

Your Committee into the matter of the question of hereto, which questions to state is a There has been a different committee country and about ing to evolve an more or less even there is nothing a heart of the people of this Committee into this question in leading up to state that while it may have, and and earnestly to be for the law paper of this Committee could work in the only last week of the Union League. It was necessary year to year and offer an amendment not yet in effect however, believed not help us any, to be repealed and reasoning. Without details of this act, in familiar to the expense, as it has been, the two most important rate and the which can upset it. As to the for a of $5,000 as municipalities of believe to be to tremendous increases would detriment of this and more particularly least afford it. In the administration the apitalities, produce cessive pro-rata, taxes, and a point would relieve the railroads of a tax for reasons well known to the clause, which is a source undo that, posed to accomplish.

It is therefore committee that the Bloomfield should immediate reap the place be adopted towards that end.
